W1Da Experience Announces the UK Debut of the w1Da 33 00D Racing and Cruising Sailing Yacht, With Extended Range

Westport, Mayo, Ireland and the Southampton Boat Show: 15th September 2017.

W1Da Experience Limited, a private company based in Mayo in the West of Ireland, announces the UK Debut of the new w1Da 33 00D ER, the first electrically-drive sailing yacht with Extended Range, that sets new standards in Europe for range and Renewable Energy –based electrical propulsion.

The w1Da 3300D is an environmentally friendly yacht that can operate entirely on its own wind, solar and water-based energy generation that produces no damaging emissions, yet enables safe long distance sailing, motoring (more than ten hours and extendable) without noise, and a comfortable cruising with domestic kitchen and bathroom, offering comforts few cruising boats can offer.

The w1Da 3300D ER version included fifth generation lithium batteries that offer a cruising range of up to 16 hours, and longer, depending on sea and wave conditions. This epoxy-moulded One Design yacht offers sparkling performance for its owners in their own One Design class.

Rory Staunton Managing Director of w1DA Experience Limited stated: “Owners our new One Design yacht can take advantage of a range that is unmatched by electrically driven yachts in Europe. Like Tesla and other electric cars, boats no longer need a noisy, smelly unreliable diesel engine. Owners prefer quiet and non polluting propulsion”.

The w1DA 33 00D offers sailors a choice of battery configurations, to go with their selection of interior finishes, kitchen and bathroom décor. Its unique retractable shock-absorbing keel enables owners to enjoy harbours most other racing boats others cannot reach.

The w1Da 33 00D will be available for demonstration at the Southampton Boat Show berth M140 from 15th to 24th September 2017 and afterwards in Chichester Harbour and Mayo, Ireland. Please contact us to arrange your appointment.
